

BETWEEN ART AND AUTOMATION

The Quest
for the Sustainable CPF Record

ART

Joseph Nollekens,
Samuel Johnson.
Plaster, 1777.
Yale Center for British Art

AUTOMATION

"Samuel Johnson" Mini
Button (100 pack)
www.cafepress.com
Product #61003309

NOT THIS FAR

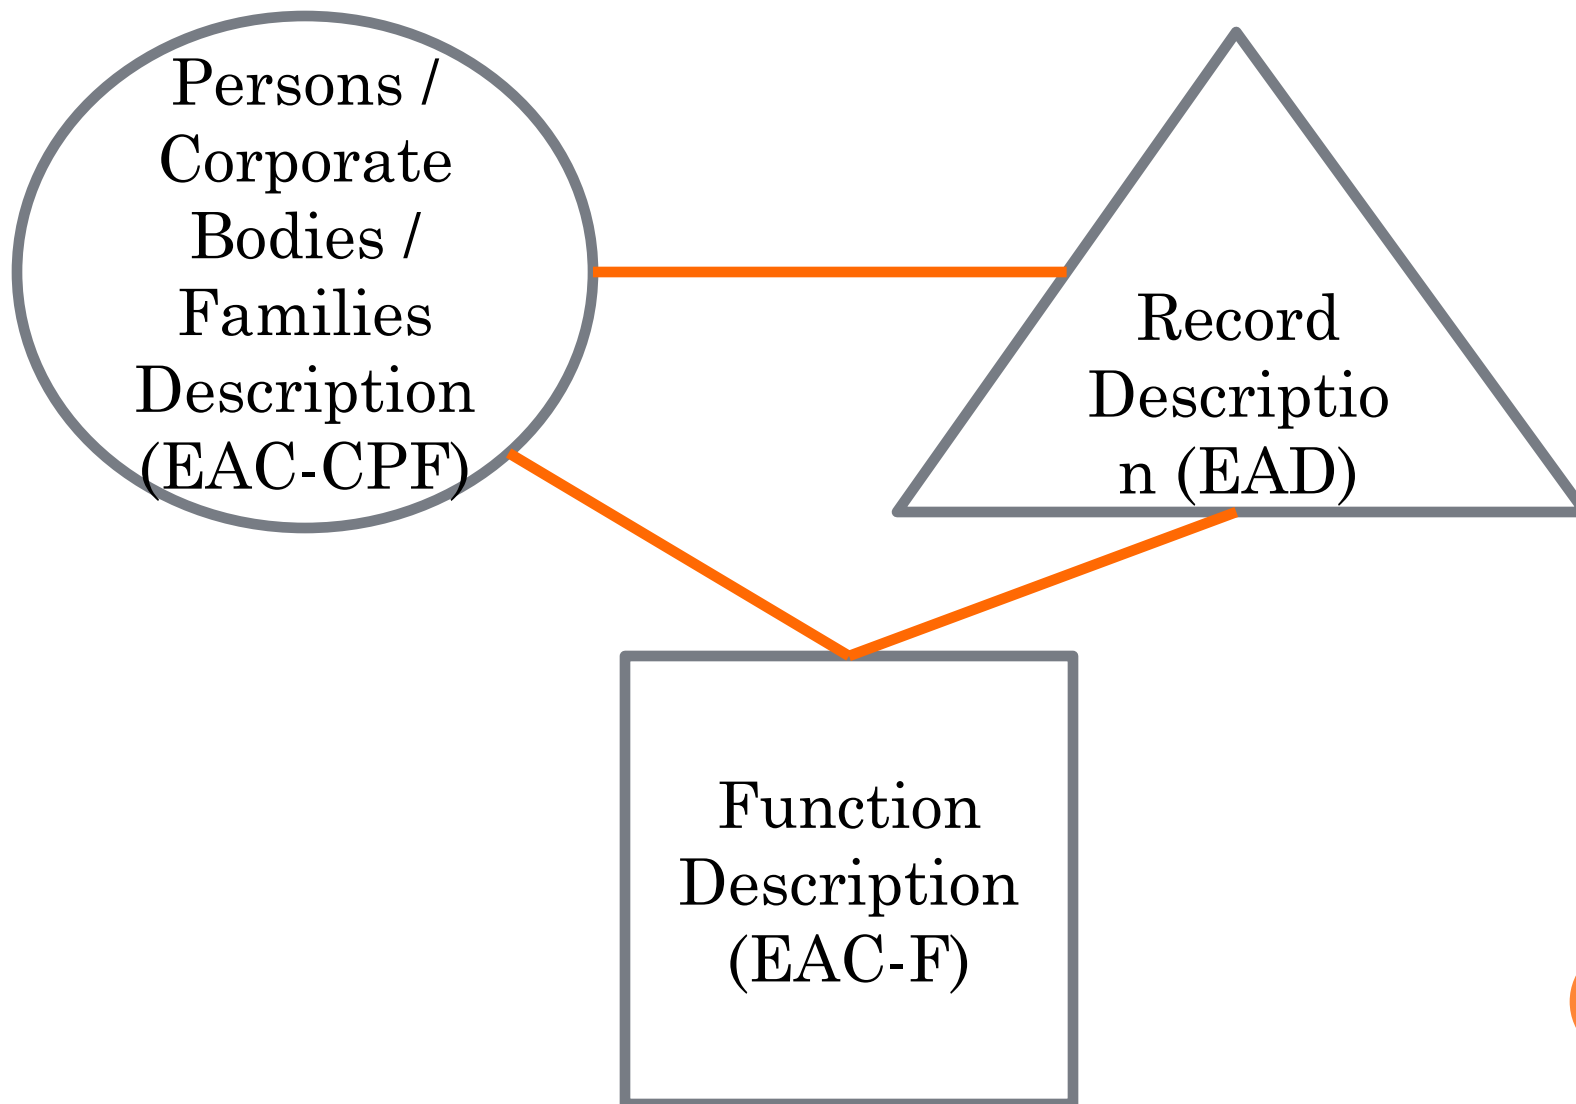

11/8/2013 Regine Heberlein, Princeton University

<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-2056698/The-road-Norwegian-bridge-gives-motorists-fright-dont-worry-just-optical-illusion.html>

Structured Access

PRINCIPLES

- CPF records are not a goal unto itself but access points
- More access points are better than fewer access points
- Concise access points are sufficient
- Additional content is created at the expense of resource discovery

Finding Aids

Use this site to explore descriptions of our unique holdings at the Princeton University Libraries, which include manuscripts, archival collections, images, ephemera, and much more one-of-a-kind material.

Show Advanced Search | Search Tips

Topics

This is a great place to start if you would like to know what we have in a given subject area. We have broken down our collection strengths based on topic.

Browse Topics »

Names

Doing research on a particular person or organization? Click here for historical information and links to collections about individuals, families and corporate bodies.

Browse Names »

Collections

The library is composed of many different sets of archives and collections. This is the list of every collection we have described in finding aids.

Browse Collections »

CONTEXT V. AUTHORITY

“American novelist and Nobel Prize winner Ernest Hemingway and Milford J. Baker drove ambulances together on the Italian front in 1918 and later shared big-game hunting and gun-collecting interests.”

THE MOSAIC COMPROMISE

Hemingway, Ernest, 1899-1961.

Contents

Biography and HistoryRelated Materials

Biography and History

Born in 1902, C.T. Lanham was a life soldier who retired as a general. In 1944, during World War II, his troops were among the first to break out from Normandy, enter Paris, and attack the Siegfried Line in Germany. He became friends with writer/journalist Ernest Hemingway and corresponded with him for the next seventeen years. After the war, he was chief of troop information and education; post-retirement he was associate editor of Infantry Journal. He died in 1978.

Source: From the finding aid for C0067

Biography and History

Ernest Hemingway was an American novelist, storywriter, and journalist. An expatriate living in Paris after World War I, he became part of the "Lost Generation" of American writers. He won the Pulitzer Prize for The Old Man and the Sea in 1953 and received the Nobel Prize for Literature in 1954. His writing style, characterized by economy and understatement, significantly influenced twentieth-century literature.

Source: From the finding aid for C0068

Biography and History

Ernest Hemingway was an American novelist, storywriter, and journalist from Oak Park, Illinois. He was awarded the Nobel Prize in Literature in 1954.

Source: From the finding aid for C0580

Biography and History

American novelist and Nobel Prize winner Ernest Hemingway and Milford J. Baker drove ambulances together on the Italian front in 1918 and later shared big-game hunting and gun-collecting interests.

Source: From the finding aid for C0699

Related Materials

Patrick Hemingway Papers. 1927-1961 (inclusive).

Call Number: C0066

Consists of correspondence, documents, photographs, and miscellanea of Ernest Hemingway's middle son, Patrick (1928-), and the Hemingway family.

HOW MUCH IS ENOUGH?

- For us, at a minimum:
 - nameEntry
 - biogHist(s)
 - resourceRelation (at least one)

HOW MUCH IS ENOUGH?

- For us, at most:
 - nameEntry
 - authorizedForm
 - existDates and useDates, if available
 - biogHist
 - occupations
 - resourceRelations (many)

To-Do LIST

- Link to CPF from EAD
 - and remove bioghist from EAD
- Add functions
- Move from contextual bioghist model to authority record: human intervention required
- Add meaningful useDates
- Add search and faceting options

Plan for Maintenance

11/8/2013

Regine Heberlein, Princeton University

SNAC

Regine Heberlein
heberlei@princeton.edu

